BIOGRAPHY:

Leonardo Gomez, Ph.D.

Leo Gomez is a teacher educator, course designer, and co-founder of Learn YOUR English. He holds a Master's in TESOL from the University of Birmingham and a Cambridge DELTA. His work focuses on Task-Based Language Teaching (TBLT), affordances in learning, responsive pedagogy, second language listening, and corpus-informed instruction. He has taught in seven countries, designed curricula for universities and colleges, and leads professional development grounded in communicative, action-oriented, and research-based approaches. Leo also hosts the Teacher Talking Time podcast, where he engages with leading scholars in applied linguistics and second language acquisition. He currently teaches at Seneca Polytechnic and Sheridan College.

ABSTRACT

What is emergent language, and how can it be effectively used in the classroom? This session explores how affordances and emergent language offer real-time opportunities for learning. Participants will gain practical strategies, a new intervention framework, and insights into how working with EL supports deeper, more personalized language acquisition.

The editorial process includes a review by a strict pair of "blind" reviewers and using Plagius software to verify that ethical standards are respected and that there is no plagiarism in any of the documents. Then, authors are advised to verify the submissions including the call elements and format in advance.

The evaluation of submissions starts in the editorial process, which may end in declining submissions if they do not match the call and format requirements. When the editorial board accepts a submission, it continues to the double-blind peer review process as the final evaluation with the following results:

- a) Accept Submission or Accept Submission with Modifications
- b) Revisions Required or Resubmit for Review
- c) Decline Submission

It is important to mention that if a blind reviewer declines the article or essay, it will not be accepted.

The proposals are uploaded to the platform in Word format without the authors' names.

The proposals need to be sent with an attached Word file containing a 100-word authors' biodata.

In addition, authors need to add the declaration of originality in Word format and signed.

Please upload the articles on the CIEX JOURNAL

WEBSITE: <http://journal.ciex.edu.mx>

Deadline to send the proposals: July 31st, 2025.
